About Me

I am a Junior Developer transitioning from a career in Civil Engineering, where I built a strong analytical foundation. I am currently pursuing a specialization in Deep Learning at CIN-UFPE, deepening my knowledge in artificial intelligence and programming. I have hands-on experience developing projects with Python, including integrating external APIs for data collection and processing. Additionally, I have completed courses that provided me with knowledge of JavaScript, HTML, CSS, and SQL, expanding my capabilities in web development and data analysis.
